Dear DPN members and friends please save the date

FIDIC launched its Second Editions of the Red, Yellow and Silver books by the end of 2017. Already it's been given the nickname "The 3-Kilo Suite". The books are bigger – so the Red FIDIC for instance contains more the 50,000 words, which is over 50 % longer than the 1999 version – but the main question is if it's also 50 % better?

No matter if the new editions are better or worse, it's relevant for the users to know the changes made.

It is therefore a great pleasure for us to announce that Partner and Head of International Arbitration of Pinsent Masons LLP, Mr. Mark Roe has kindly offered to high-light the main changes for the contractors in the Red and Yellow books.

The day will be divided in two parts. During the first part, Mark Roe will take the participants through the changes in a detailed manner. More or less chapter by chapter and the 7 new clauses compared to the 1999 edition.

In the second part of the afternoon we invite you to participate in a DPN Networking Meeting to take a closer look at how the changes made will affect the contractor as well as the other participants in the project.

The discussion will be followed by networking dinner.
